In what ways is God "close" in your life? Please share. Jesus loves me, this I know, the Bible says. When I stop and think about it, I know my relationship with God is important to me. I mean, I'll do my best not to drive too fast or not to eat too much candy, and I'll try to do the best to avoid those kinds of temptations that cause me to stray from my relationship with God. Still, if I asked myself a few years ago if I was a Christian, or even if I was a Christian at all, I would have to answer 'no'. I'm a non-denominational religious agnostic. I don't have a belief in God, Jesus, angels, demons, God's will, angels' will, prayers, or the power of God. I don't know what happens after we die, or if we have any soul. I don't know if God is doing anything in the world. And yet, there's a reason why I don't feel close to God when I think about it - because I haven't really believed. For that, I am a real hope for the world and the future of human kind. I don't feel close to God. I don't have a close relationship with God. And I think that's because I know in my bones that I'm a liar. Why the S.O.B.? Because I've been a Christian for most of my life, and I've been doing everything that was expected of me according to what the Bible says. But something's been missing for me. Something's been missing, and I thought I was the problem, until I went to meet a pastor and found my pastor. I started reading the Bible more. I started reading about God, and the more I read, the more I realized I didn't even know who Jesus was in the first place. I thought Jesus was an event, not a person
