

Frog Potty Training Urinal – An Adorable Frog to Teach Important Skill

Every parent starts potty training their child when their little one reaches a certain age. For most parents, this phase of life can be extremely daunting. Making your baby use a urinal without running away is trickier than it sounds. You need to invest in a product that catches your child's interest. The Frog Potty Training Urinal features a unique animated frog that can make this duty much easier for you.

Relieving Yourself Just Got Simpler

The Frog Potty Training Urinal's perfectly curated design makes it appear as a plaything that your child will surely want to explore. It features bright colors and a cute frog design that invites children to use it joyfully instead of fearing it. Not only can your little one use it to learn an essential life skill, but at other times, it also works as a lovely toy. This practical device is not a replacement for a parent's efforts, but it works like a wonder in making the process enjoyable and much more straightforward.

Constructed With Perfection

The Frog Potty Training Urinal is composed of two parts. The part where the baby will urinate comes off to ensure proper waste disposal after use. The other part comes with a suction cup and can be attached to a wall or surface. It also boasts the ideal size measuring 8.26" × 6.69" × 11.81". Apart from these helpful features, the vibrant frog picture is highly intriguing for the child. The kids can't help but gaze at it and investigate it. In return, the training procedure becomes much simpler and more enjoyable for the parent!
